After having made some punctilious calculations based on the concordance of the Pi figure with precise criteria, a great English doctor has come to the following conclusion: Amber Heard is the most beautiful woman in the world according to science. She is followed by Kim Kardashian and Kate Moss! Discover the rest of the ranking ...

Amber Heard is the woman with the most beautiful face on the planet. This is not a simple affirmation, it is science that proves it!

A facial surgeon and a great researcher on anatomy, Dr. Julian De Silva has undertaken a picky study on female facies. At the head of the Center for Facial Cosmetics and Plastic Surgery in London , this great doctor analyzed thousands of faces before making this conclusion, thanks to precise calculations based on the figure Pi.

"With the Pi figure, the Greeks discovered a ratio that corresponds to the secret formula of the most beautiful faces in the world. The more straight and magnetic traits you have, the closer you are to the golden ratio, the more beautiful and perfect you are. "

To go further in his study, the doctor and his team have created a software that calculates face shapes, to facilitate understanding of the qualities that make someone physically beautiful by entering specific criteria. Thanks to a virtual cartography, he executed the calculations on real women.

Each face is analyzed according to 12 specific points such as the eyes, the eyebrows, the nose, the lips, the chin, the jaw and the shape of the face. Nearly 91.85% of the ratio, Amber Heard is scientifically the most beautiful woman in the world. With 91.39% perfect mix between points, Kim Kardashian came in second followed by Kate Moss (91.06%). Sulfur Emily Ratajkowski is fourth and Kendall Jenner is fifth (90.18%).
